Dear [REDACTED]

Permit me to thank you, both in my own behalf and that of the participants in the Sixth Session of The Senior Seminar in Foreign Policy, for once again meeting with us and enriching our program. Nearly all of the participants have already told me of their appreciation of your presentation, a sentiment that, I think was evident to you from the interest with which the group entered into the discussion. It was a privilege to have you with us today.

Sincerely yours,

Andrew V. Corry
